At the CENTRAL POLICE COURT yesterday Mr. Clark, S.M., presided in the Chicago division. A little boy named William Parker, aged 12 years, was ordered to be held in a house of ill-fame, as directed to do so on bond by the Vermont. Alfred Wilson was fined $40. for discharging firearms in the West-end street John Jones was sentenced to six months for inflicting grievous bodily harm upon William Nagler. Prosecutor deposed that the prisoner knocked him down with his fist and then he struck him with a piece of iron. There was some doubt as to the latter portion of the assault. The prisoner was accordingly dealt with as common assault, and sentenced to three months' imprisonment at the House of Correction. The prisoner had been from frequenting Belmore Park for some felonious purpose, was sent to gaol for six months.

At the WATER POLICE COURT yesterday, before Mr. James D. East, the following cases were heard:—A stolen three gold rings and three sovereigns valued in all at £15, the property of Mrs. Jessie Curran, who lives at No. 6, St. George's street, North; Evidence was given to the effect that the steamship Curragh, which was chartered by her, was seen to leave the pier and the prisoner occupied the same room one night at the Melbourne Coffee Palace, George-street North; the prisoner before she awoke in the morning; when the prosecutor put up his amended articles mentioned and sons of herlodging; the wife of the defendant, who was at the Quaker Seamen, Edward Higgins and John Hurst were taken into custody, with an alternative of a month's imprisonment, for having travelled from Wellington, N. Z., to Sydney in the "Waka," a schooner, without paying the proper duties, £50. In the Summons Branch, before Mr. Johnson, S.M., about 30 school cases were disposed of, and the following were committed to prison, a number of the defendants. The case of McFarlane v. Tait, in which the captain of the Lyceum-Home is sued for the detention and imprisonment of a Chinese boy, the steward of that vessel, was called on, but the case was postponed for a week. In this matter there are two informations laid, differing slightly in substance.

BRANCH OF THE LICENSING ACT.

At the Central Police Court yesterday, before Mr. T. K. Abbott, S.M., William Lyns, landlord of the Lord Clyde Hotel, Plymouth, was charged with keeping his licensed house open for the sale of liquor at the hour of 3.30 a.m. on the 14th instant. Inspector Anderson prosecuted. Constable Quayle stated that on the morning of the 14th instant he was near defendant's premises when he saw a woman named Wray leave the hotel. She entered the hotel with a bully in her hand at about 3.35 a.m.; she afterwards came out into the street, when he asked her what she had in the can, and she replied: "here is a can of beer." He then asked her for a statement regarding the can. The bench inflicted a penalty of £20, with 6s. 6d. costs, levy and distress, or three months in gaol. The fine was paid.

SIR JOHN ROBERTSON'S SPEECH AT THE CLINTARF PICNIC.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—In his speech at Clintarf, Sir John Robertson said: "It was my fortune, or misfortune, to be one of those who were asked to pass a law that would divide the different constituencies so unequally, and telling them 'If you elect me, if you do not like the Act I passed, I will amend it in any way you like.' I am now in a position to know that 14 years after my Act was passed, no man dared to open his mouth in the country for amending it."

It is a pity that the petition from the Riverina Council in 1864? That petition contained 10 clauses, and most of the provisions of the petition have been carried out since, except the 10th paragraph, which was not carried out. The 10th paragraph was to the effect that if the land conditionally bought, the conditional purchaser may be granted an indefeasible lease for 14 years, with an absolute purchase right over an area twice that of the land conditionally bought, but that the land purchased by the conditional purchaser, and held by such pre-emptive leaseholder, be securely fenced with a wire fence, and that such security fence be kept, until such fencing be made and completed, no power of impounding of such land by such purchaser shall exist, or be exercisable by any member for Beirnauld.

appraisement in 10 years' of the land, gentlemen is at fault; he treated it?" There again the hon. gentleman is at fault; he cannot be fully aware of the provisions of the Act of 1864. What are the facts? "Pastoral leases which provide for (a) a fifty of tenure for five years; (b) payment of rent, to commence from the date of notification of the division of the run; (c) when so determined by appraisement, the rent is to remain for the whole term of the lease. This lease is renewable for a further term of five years, subject to a new appraisement of rent, the amount being not less than that paid for the previous five years, and not more than what the holder to give notice two years before the expiration of the original lease that no renewal will be granted."

After the above quotations, what becomes of Sir John's statements at the Close? I am, &c.,

tens of turpentines were also found in the place one tin having a hole like the others. A number of bottles containing benzine were found on one of the benches. The ceiling of the room was found to be scorched. There was nothing to show by what means the fire underneath occurred. The accused about four days before the fire occurred made an application to the Australian Mercantile Union Insurance Company to increase the amount of his insurance policy from £500 to £3000 on the ground that he had no other stock or stored on the premises occupied by him had been added to considerably, and was worth about £600. A number of witnesses were examined, including Superintendent Smith, who gave evidence as follows:- I am Inspector of Police at Melbourne; Beer of the Metropolitan Fire Brigade, their evidence going to show the statements made by the accused regarding the fire. It was also alleged on behalf of the Crown that the sum stated by the accused in his application for additional insurance, and also that the damage done by the fire did not amount to anything like the prima facie case called for by DeLoach, 210 F.2d 101, 102 (1st Cir. 1955). The evidence for the defense with the view of proving that the occurrence was the result of an accident on the partance of the accused, his statement being to the effect that he had been sitting on the bench, leaning back, when the candle he had lit in the room or from a spark from a pipe which he was smoking at the time. A witness was called to prove that the accused had played pool on the night of the fire, and that he was not smoking it. No evidence was offered with regard to the fire which had occurred underneath the benches, but it was contended on behalf of the defense that it was caused by the burning of the candles. The evidence for the prosecution seemed to prove that such was not the case, as it was stated by two or three witnesses that there were no marks, either on the floor or on cases of the benches, which would indicate that a candle had been burned from pipe bench to another in this manner. The

did not amount to anything like the plain charges made against the accused. The jury was called for the defense with the view of proving that the occurrence was the result of an accident on the part of the accused. The evidence showed that the fire had been started by a candle which was burning on the table when the accused was in the room, and that while he was working some bottles of benzine the escaping vapor became ignited, either from a candle which he had lighted in the room or from a spark from a pipe which he was smoking. The evidence also showed that the accused was the first person who played upon the fire with a hose and eventually succeeded in extinguishing it. No evidence was offered with regard to the fact that the accused was carrying a lantern when he was in the room, but it was contended on behalf of the defense that they were caused by the burning benzine, but the time a witness was called to prove that the fire had not been started by the accused, it was stated by two or three witnesses that there were no marks, either on the floor or on cases which were between the benches, to show that the fire had been started by the accused in this manner. The bottles of benzine, when discovered by the authorities, were on top of one of the benches. After the evidence had been taken, the Crown Prosecutor addressed the jury in reply, and his Honor summed up at some length, calling attention to the fact that the jury in the jury box had then retired to consider their verdict, and, after a short deliberation, found the accused not guilty.

His Honor, addressing the jury, said: I hope you are all satisfied with my summary of the evidence.

Accused: I am, your Honor.

His Honor: You are discharged; I have never known any case like this.

The accused was then liberated from the dock, and the Court rose.

CORONER'S INQUESTS.

CRUSHED TO DEATH AT ST. PETERS.

Yesterday afternoon the coroner (Mr. W. T. Piney, J. P.) held an inquest at the corner (No. 6) "Morgue" on the body of Michael M-Carthy, who was killed on Monday through the wall of a brick kiln falling on him as he worked in the St. Peter's Brick and Quarry.

Mr. H. Pigott was present during the inquiry, and watched the proceedings "on behalf of the company."

The deceased was about 30 years of age; his identification by the jury being that of his son Michael; deceased was a carter; he was a native of Canada, and was 20 years of age; he had been married, and there were said to have been three months ago; he knew how to swim, and could swim three miles ago.

Nicholas Peters, residing at Joseph-street, Alexandria, stated that deceased was in his employment as a carter; he saw the deceased on Monday afternoon, when he was employed cutting bricks from the brick works, situate on the Cook's River-road, at St. Peters; deceased was carrying a load of bricks on his back; witness and M-Carthy were loading a cart; the kiln was nearly empty at the time of the accident; the walls were all built up above the level of the ground; the roof of the walls collapsed, and fell upon the deceased and two others named Livermore and Thompson; witness first became aware that something was wrong when he heard the noise made by the falling of the bricks.

He recalled the proceedings "in behalf of the company," and said that he was not present at the identification of the body as being that of James John Michael; deceased was a carter; he was a native of Canada, and was 20 years of age; he was a carter; he knew last saw him three weeks ago; he knew him from the accident.

Nicholas Peters, residing at Joseph-street, Alexander, stated that deceased was in his employment as a carter; he was employed carrying bricks from the brick works, situate on the Cook's River-road, at St. Peter's; he was not present at the accident; he was a carter; witness and McCarthy were loading a cart; the kins was nearly empty at the time of the accident; the walls were about 200 feet above the ground; the walls were made of stone; and fell upon the deceased and two others named Alvord and Thompson; witness first became aware that something was wrong when he heard deceased fall back out; he saw McCarthy attempt to arise out of his cart, but the wall fell on him, and he was completely buried; witness had a narrow escape from death himself; he was buried under the wall; witness was underneath the debris, but about 20 minutes elapsed before the deceased was extricated; he was then quite dead; Dr. Kingston was called; he was not present; witness was not present, but upon his arrival he pronounced life to be extinct; witness stated that to appearances the kins was perfectly sound shortly before the wall gave way; he had not seen the wall for some time; he had been there for about two years, but he never noticed any crack or fissure in the wall.

John F. McGee, residing at St. Michael's, witness stated that the kins was built in the same way as all other brick kins were; he also said that the heavy gaule of wind which swept over the kins was the cause of the wall falling; he did not think it was not account for the fall of the side of the kins in any other way.

out of his cart, but the wall fell on him, and he was completely buried: witness had a narrow escape from death having been lying under the debris, but about 20 minutes elapsed before the deceased was extricated; he was then quite dead. Dr. James Squires, brickmaker, residing at St. Peter, stated that he was not present at the accident, but upon his arrival he pronounced life to be extinct: witness stated that to appearances the kiln was perfectly sound shortly before the wall gave way: he had not observed any cracks in the wall for some time, although about two years, but he never noticed any crack or fissure in the wall.

Dr. J. Piggott, the witness stated that the kiln was built in the same way as all other brick kilns were; he also said that the heavy gale of wind which swept over the town on Sunday blew strongly from the south-west; witness did not see the walls of the kiln were built in a faithful manner.

In reply to the acting coroner, Peters said that the kiln was built about 65,000 bricks; it was nearly empty on Monday; it was the wall which fell, and the wind on Sunday blew strongly from the south-west; witness did not see the walls of the kiln were built in a faithful manner.

Dr. J. Kinsbury deposed that death was caused by fracture of the base of the skull, accompanied by suffocation.

James Squires, brickmaker, residing at St. Peter, stated that he had a narrow escape from death on Sunday. Dr. Piggott said he did not see the accident, but assisted in getting the man out from beneath the ruin: the kiln was virtually empty at the time the wall fell: witness did not see the wall of the kiln was built 3 feet thick at the base and tapered up to a thickness of 18 inches; kilns of a similar character would probably last six or seven years; witness did not see the wall of the kiln of Sunday; he had noticed a crack in the wall which being a month ago; it was about 18 feet long, but he did not think it was so wide. He said that he did not see anything being done to it; witness and another of the partners in the firm (Mr. Edwards) examined the fissure, but they came to the decision that the wall was perfectly sound. He said that he subsequently met with brick kilns; they were caused by the intense heat; kilns generally cracked with the first firing, but that did not affect their stability; witness and Mr. Edwards were at the kiln at 10 o'clock on Monday, and there was nothing to indicate the slightest danger at the time. In answer to a juror, the witness said that the wall was not cracked at the time.

After consideration, the jury returned a verdict of accidental death. They further stated that no blame was attributable to anyone.

The netting contractor, Mr. W. T. Pinney, J. P., held a magisterial hearing at the West Astory newspaper, touching the case of Mrs. Alfred Wilson, 15 months old, who died in his mother's arms on Monday whilst she was taking him to a medical man. The deceased had been ailing for some time and had been taken to the hospital. The coroner's inquest, however, the magistrate found that death resulted from natural causes.

POISON IN WATER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Respecting the temporary supply of water, the contrast for which Messrs. Hudson are now finishing, you say and write, "that the water is so impure that it will kill and poison the water." I am afraid a worse poison than that will get into the water in its course through this temporary funneling. The water is so impure that it will kill and poison the water. The Company supply is, I am informed, identical with the McIntosh asplatan plant. If so, it is com-

POISON IN WATER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Respecting the temporary supply of water, the contract for which Messrs. Hudec are now finishing. You say some people complain that the aine will poison the iron and poison the water. I am afraid a worse poison than that will get into the water in its course through this temporary fanning. The bitumen or asphalt paint which the Patent Asphalturn Company supply is, I am informed, identical with the M-Inchoss asphaltum paint. If so, it is compounded of poisonous ingredients and will be most hurtful. As these joints at each joint will have to be removed often, this poison will be regularly applied. I would be glad to hear I am wrong, but I am informed from good authority it is as I state.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

As Mr. FARNELL has seen fit to come forward in support of Sir HENRY PARKES' charge against the Government for the omission of a Ministry and the steps leading up thereto, it may be worth while to say a little more about the matter. It is fair to remark that both gentlemen sing with minor variations the

"The Parliamentary and Constitutional practice has hitherto been, that upon the formation of a new Government the Premier, or someone on his behalf, has authoritatively informed Parliament of whom the Government is composed, and what steps were taken to bring about such formation together with all corre-

SIR HENRY PARKES, SAID:—

Throughout the history of Parliament in this country they had had these intimations. The first Attorney-General, the Hon. J. H. Plunkett—with whom he became acquainted, and a man of high honour—insisted that this information should be afforded to Parliament.

modern, if it fits the circumstances now before us too closely, let us go back a little, and see what has happened in New South Wales.

JAMES once formed a Ministry with Sir HENRY PARKES as his chief colleague. It was in 1866. Before that time these two gentlemen had frequently opposed each other. So the new Ministry was generally regarded as a coalition, and by some it was considered a politically immoral coalition. We are not concerned to inquire now whether nesses and necessities of political human nature, or took sufficient account of the large-hearted sympathy which under peculiar conditions it may display. It is enough to

SYDNEY AMATEUR SAILING CLUB.

The usual monthly meeting of the above club was held at the Victoria Exchange Hotel last evening, Commodore J. H. G. Smith presiding. There was a very good attendance of members present. After two new members had been unanimously elected—viz., Mr. W. Cooper and James P. Smith—the meeting discussed a motion for the alteration of the sailing regulations touching on the definition of the word "boat." Several members expressed their views upon the subject, and finally carried that "the word shall mean and include all persons other than fishermen, oystermen, lightermen, watermen, boatbuilders, makers, and persons employed on harbour steamers, who are gaining or having gained their living on the water in any person who is or who has been employed on any ships, yachts, or boats as a means of livelihood, and persons who have received a monetary consideration for professional knowledge; but the foregoing exceptions shall not extend to officers, or midshipmen, or not apply to commandants of the navy, any officer of an ocean-going steamer who holds a certificate for ocean service from the Board of Trade and is recognized marine board, or the masters, officers, or crew of British and foreign sailing vessels trading to or from the world beyond the Australian colonies, or the naval architects." There being no further business before the chair, the meeting terminated.

Newcastle correspondent (contingent) of 150 a-side, 100 yards, has been arranged between A. and J. Williams, to take place here shortly. The acceptance for the Goulburn Cup and the grand close to-day (Wednesday).

The meeting of the Sydney Amateur Canoe Dingy Club will take place this evening at the club rooms, where the first race for the second class race will close, and the third for the final race for the vice-president's (Mr. Thompson) trophies will be considered. Both races will be on Saturday next.
